Disclaimer: Simple Times Farm assumes no liability from improper cooking or preparation of the produce offered. It is the express responsibility of the shareholder to inspect and clean their products before consuming. Simple Times farm makes no claim or warranty direct or implied as to the exact nature or quantity of the produce. These are affected by weather, crop failures and successes and various other possible acts of God and nature. Share-holders are responsible to claim their share on the assigned weekly day of pick-up. Any produce left for over two days may be sold or otherwise disposed unless prior arrangements are made. While share-holders are welcome to offer their excess produce to friends and family, anyone not living in the shareholder household shall not take part in promotions, free classes, discounted opportunities or any other membership benefit unless they separately purchase a $25 farm membership or unless such promotion is offered without restriction.
